HERE IS A PLEASANT LITTLE GAME that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner and check one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Straciatella With Escarole

Straciatella is the Italian version of egg drop soup. The straciatella are the "little rags" of egg that form when beaten egg is drizzled into hot broth.

3 cans (14- to 14 1/2-ounce) chicken broth
3 cups water
1 head (12-ounce) escarole, trimmed and cut into 1-inch pieces
3 large eggs
1/3 cup freshly grated Pecorino Romano cheese
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 teaspoon coarsely ground black pepper

1. In 4-quart covered saucepan, heat broth and water to boiling on high. Stir in escarole; reduce heat to medium and simmer 5 minutes or until escarole is tender and wilted.
2. Meanwhile, in 2-cup liquid measuring cup or small bowl, whisk eggs, Romano, salt and pepper until combined.
3. Drizzle egg mixture from measuring cup into simmering broth, gently stirring just until egg shreds are set. Ladle soup into warm bowls and serve immediately. Yields 10 1/2 cups (4 main-dish servings).

* Each serving: About 115 calories, 6g total fat (2g saturated), 166mg cholesterol, 1,245mg sodium, 5g total carbohydrate, 2g dietary fiber, 12g protein.

1. Name The Who guitarist who is known for smashing his guitars during performances. How did that get started?
2. Why did Bob Dylan stop touring between 1966 and 1973?
3. What was Wicked Lester?
4. The Polka Tulk Blues Band ended up as what band?
5. Name the television show that used these lyrics in the theme song: "Just sit right back and you'll hear a tale, A tale of a fateful trip."

Answers

1. Peter Townsend. He accidentally broke the head off a guitar during a show and afterward continued breaking guitars (albeit cheaper ones).
2. He was seriously injured in a motorcycle accident, crashing his Triumph Tiger 100SS. Later, however, he was quoted as saying he'd wanted to get out of the rat race.
3. The original name of Kiss, with a short period (1970-1971) being called Rainbow. Look for a 1972 bootleg album called "The Original Wicked Lester Sessions."
4. Black Sabbath.
5. "Gilligan's Island," which aired for three seasons from 1964-67, a total of 98 episodes. The first season was in black and white. The storyline tells of castaways who ran aground on an island during a storm while on the charter boat SS Minnow.

3	4	■	1	⑤
4	■	②	■	③
②	①	⑤	4	■

- No number appears in a row or column more than once.
- Shaded (black) squares do not touch each other vertically or horizontally.
- When completed, all un-shaded (white) squares create a single continuous area.

Moments in time

THE HISTORY CHANNEL

 On Feb. 16, 1878, supported by Western mining interests and farmers, the Bland-Allison Act, which provided for a return to the minting of silver coins, becomes law. It required the U.S. Treasury to resume purchasing silver and minting silver dollars as legal tender.*

 On Feb. 13, 1915, the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers (ASCAP) is founded to "assure that music creators are fairly compensated for the public performance of their works, and that their rights are properly protected."*

 On Feb. 10, 1957, Laura Ingalls Wilder, author of the best-selling "Little House" series of children's novels, dies at age 90 in Missouri. In 1932, Wilder, then in her 60s, published her first novel, "Little House in the Big Woods."*

 On Feb. 15, 1961, the entire 18-member U.S. figure skating team is killed in a plane crash in Belgium. The team was on its way to the 1961 World Figure Skating Championships in Prague. U.S. women's figure skating champion Laurence Owen, 16, was featured on the Feb. 13, 1961, cover of Sports Illustrated.*

 On Feb. 12, 1972, the release of American POWs begins in Hanoi as part of the Paris peace settlement. The first 20 of 591 U.S. POWs arrived to a hero's welcome at Travis AFB in California.*

 On Feb. 14, 1989, Iran's Ayatollah Khomeini calls on Muslims to kill Salman Rushdie, author of "The Satanic Verses," and his publishers. Booksellers the world over refused to sell the novel for fear of retribution. Many who did sell it were bombed.*

 On Feb. 11, 1990, in a major upset, Buster Douglas defeats Mike Tyson, the undisputed world heavyweight champion, in 10 rounds at a boxing match in Tokyo. The loss was the beginning of a long, downward spiral for Tyson, which included jail time and license revocation in Nevada.*

These Peanut Butter Bars are lower in sugar and fat than traditional recipes.

Peanut butter is used in a multitude of recipes, from savory dishes to desserts. Peanuts are a strong source of protein, fiber and heart-healthy fats, and they're also rich in potassium and B vitamins. Even though they can be high in calories, peanuts are nutrient-dense, so they can make great additions to most diets.
When peanuts are included in desserts, people may want to find healthy adaptations so that it's possible to indulge without all of the guilt. Consider this lightened-up version of "Peanut Butter Bars" from "Taste of Home Healthy Cooking Cookbook" (RDA Enthusiast Brands, LLC) by the Taste of Home Kitchens.

Peanut Butter Bars

Makes 3 dozen

1¾	cups reduced-fat creamy peanut butter, divided
⅓	cup butter, softened
1	cup packed brown sugar
¾	cup sugar
2	eggs
½	cup unsweetened applesauce
1	teaspoon vanilla extract
2	cups all-purpose flour
2	cups quick-cooking oats
1	teaspoon baking soda

Frosting

4½	cups confectioners' sugar
⅓	cup fat-free milk
¼	cup baking cocoa
¼	cup butter, softened
1	teaspoon vanilla extract
½	teaspoon salt

In a large bowl, cream 1 cup peanut butter, butter, brown sugar, and sugar until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition. Beat in the applesauce and vanilla. Combine the flour, oats and baking soda; gradually add to the creamed mixture and mix well (batter will be thick.)
Spread into a 15 x 10 x1-inch baking pan coated with cooking spray. Bake at 350 for 18 to 22 minutes, or until lightly browned. Cool on a wire rack for 10 minutes; spread with the remaining peanut butter. Cool to room temperature, then refrigerate for 30 minutes.
In a large bowl, beat frosting ingredients until light and fluffy. Spread over the peanut butter layer. Cut into bars.

Revisit the Books of Our Childhood

There really is something to be said for going back to a simpler time, even for a little while.

For those of us who work with people who have dementia, or if we just want to take a break from the current crop of books on best-seller lists, here is an idea: revisit the books of our childhood.

Wikipedia can be a great place to remind us of the titles we might have forgotten. Put "books of the 1940s," or whatever decade you'd like to explore, in its search box,. You'll find hundreds of books from our childhood, most with links to information about the books themselves, such as: "Lassie Come Home" (1940), "Curious George" (1941), "Pippi Longstocking" (1945) and "Scuffy the Tugboat" (1946).

From the 1950s we have "Henry Huggins" (1950), "Charlotte's Web" (1952), "Horton Hears a Who!" (1954), "Danny and the Dinosaur" (1958) and the "Brains Benton Series" (1959-61).

To jog your memory, in 1942, Henry, Jessie, Violet and Benny Alden were orphans living in a boxcar in the woods until they are introduced to their grandfather, who has the boxcar moved to his backyard in "The Boxcar Children."

In 1946, "Scuffy the Tugboat" ended up floating down larger and larger waterways until he was rescued and was put back where he was happiest -- the bathtub.

In 1959, Brains Benton and his sidekick Jimmy Carson solved the mystery of "The Case of the Missing Message," and continued solving crimes for the next five books in the original Brains Benton series.

If you want to find the old books of your childhood, it's not as difficult as you might think. Some of the books are still in print. Check Amazon.com or AbeBooks.com. Some of them might be found at your library. If you're very lucky, a few of them might even be on your own bookshelves.

Donna's Day Creative family fun

by Donna Erickson

Fun Indoor Play Chases Bad Weather Away

It was a very cold day. How cold was it? When I tossed a pitcher of water up into the air from our Minneapolis front door a couple of weeks ago, fireworks of ice crystals instantly appeared and exploded in all directions. I braved opening the door again because I couldn't resist blowing multitudes of soap bubbles to observe flash-frozen icy spheres dance as they descended and bounced on the ground. We were frozen in our tracks as the polar vortex shut us down, giving our loyal mail carrier a day off and closing schools.

"No outdoor play" recommendations because of dangerous wind chill had parents scrambling for indoor ideas. Letting children create on a free day was the mantra of a friend who cared for two school-age girls. While one did an "alphabet search," hunting for objects around the house beginning with letters A-Z and photographing them with grandma's cellphone, the other went online to Target's website to pretend shop by jotting "purchases" on a sheet of paper, the challenge to "spend" less than $50.

A preschool teacher said her grandkids enjoyed creative thinking by making up clever activities based on nursery rhymes. For example, before preparing hard-boiled eggs for lunch, they recited "Humpty Dumpty" and came up with ways to protect him (bubble wrap!) from cracking on a "fall" from a shelf.

While you're not likely to get the brutally cold slap in the face we experienced, there are still stormy and rainy days that will keep your kids inside in the weeks ahead.

Here are three more fun indoor activities:

Be weather watchers. Check the weather online and in this newspaper. What are the conditions in another state or country where your friends and relatives live? Older kids can be reporters in a pretend weather center. One can be on location (by a window) while the other is in a mock "studio." What's the weekend prediction?

Get moving! Physical activity is a fun and natural part of life. Challenge kids to come up with an exercise routine to their favorite music. Be their student and let them teach the moves to you.

Tell stories. Cut out a picture from this paper, or use a printed photo from your last vacation. Encourage your child to tell a story, real or imagined, about it. Start by saying where it occurred, when it happened and what the character was doing. If your child gets stuck, encourage her by asking "And then what happened?

Swiss Steak Skillet

I don't think there is a "meat and potatoes" man around who won't give this comforting dish two thumbs up.

16 ounces lean tenderized minute or cube steaks, cut into 16 pieces
1 1/2 cups finely sliced celery
1 cup chopped onion
1 (8-ounce) can tomato sauce
1 (8-ounce) can stewed tomatoes, undrained
1 teaspoon dried parsley flakes
Sugar substitute to equal 1 tablespoon sugar, suitable for cooking
1/8 teaspoon black pepper
3 cups hot cooked noodles, rinsed and drained

1. In a large skillet sprayed with butter-flavored cooking spray, saute meat, celery and onion for 10 minutes. Stir in tomato sauce, undrained stewed tomatoes, parsley flakes, sugar substitute and black pepper. Lower heat, cover and simmer for 30 minutes, stirring occasionally.
2. For each serving, place 1/2 cup noodles on a plate and spoon about 1 cup meat mixture over top. Freezes well. Serves 6.

* Each serving equals: About 233 calories, 5g fat, 22g protein, 25g carb., 307mg sodium, 3g fiber; Diabetic Exchanges: 2 Meat, 1 1/2 Vegetable, 1 Starch.

Spaghetti Carbonara

Beaten eggs and plenty of Romano cheese form a lightly creamy sauce in this bacon-studded Italian pasta dish.

1 pound spaghetti
1 tablespoon olive oil
3 slices thick-cut bacon (or 4 ounces pancetta), cut into 1/4-inch pieces
1 small onion, chopped
5 large eggs
1/2 cup freshly grated Pecorino Romano cheese, plus additional for serving
1/4 teaspoon coarsely ground black pepper
1/4 cup (loosely packed) fresh parsley leaves, chopped

1. In large covered pot of salted boiling water, cook spaghetti as label directs.
2. Meanwhile, in 12-inch nonstick skillet, heat oil on medium 1 minute. Add bacon and cook until browned. With slotted spoon, transfer bacon to paper towels. Pour off all but 2 tablespoons fat from skillet; add onion and cook 6 minutes or until tender. Remove skillet from heat.
3. Reserve 1/4 cup pasta cooking water. Drain pasta; add to skillet with reserved water and bacon. Cook on medium, stirring, until water is absorbed. In bowl, whisk eggs with Romano and 1/4 teaspoon coarsely ground black pepper.
4. Remove skillet from heat; stir in egg mixture. Add parsley and toss until pasta is well coated. Spoon into warm pasta bowl; serve with Romano and coarsely ground black pepper to taste. Makes 4 main-dish servings.

* Each serving: About 695 calories, 24g total fat (8g saturated), 290mg cholesterol, 590mg sodium, 88g total carbohydrate, 3g dietary fiber, 29g protein.

 "It's tax season and that means paper season. If you don't happen to have a rubber finger cover to help you leaf through papers quickly, you can always wrap a rubber band around your fingertip to offer a bit of resistance. It's better than licking your finger!" -- R. in Indiana*

 If you enjoy puzzles and board games but like to keep them in their original cardboard boxes, be sure to reinforce corners with strong clear tape BEFORE they start to crack and fall apart. Use hook and loop tape to secure bags inside the box cover so that game pieces will stay with the game. There's nothing worse than pulling out a game to find that some pieces have slipped out.*

 "This might not be revolutionary, but if you put a tennis ball into a long sock and knot the sock, your dog will really like it. If they play with it outside, you can even put it right into the wash." -- K.R. in Alabama*

 Remove the neck end of a soda bottle to create a disposable funnel. Use a 2-liter bottle for a large funnel and individual drink size for smaller ones. Rinse and recycle both parts when you are finished.*

 Baking soda can be used as a mild abrasive to clean, but it also can help clean your teeth! Keep a small container in your bathroom and sprinkle a little bit of baking soda on your toothbrush weekly to give your pearly whites a polish between professional cleanings.*

 Tuck a couple fabric softener sheets in your luggage. You can use them to combat static cling or freshen the air by placing one over the air conditioner vent. It will keep your suitcase fresh-smelling between uses, too.*

PETS OF THE WEEK!

LORE

This kitty is definitely on a mission, to be the cutest busy body anyone has seen. Our little Lore is rambunctious and fun, with plenty of energy to keep on going. This puff ball is exciting and fun and would love a home to that's ready to keep up. Lore is a go getter and that includes your love, so don't worry he's busy now but he'll be over to love you soon. So if you think you are up to the challenge come and meet Lore today!

BEN

Meet Ben, he is Beautiful, he is Energetic and best of all he is Neutered!
Ben is tons and tons of potential wrapped up in a wonderful canine companion who would just love to be part of someone's full time fun time companion. Ben is currently working on his basic obedience and he is a star. His new found knowledge has only served to make him a better canine who is even more willing to please. Ben will need a home with an active lifestyle a big fenced yard and people to love on. Other dogs are fine, but cats are a bit too much competition for Ben. Do not miss the chance to meet this wonderful pup!

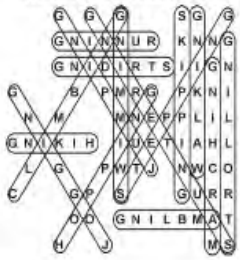
HUMAN LOCOMOTION



The Garden Bug — Roses in the Middle Ages

Roses were widely grown in medieval gardens. They were used medicinally, but also served as symbols and reminders of religious devotion and romantic love. The red rose represented the blood of Christ and of those martyrs dying for the faith. The Virgin Mary was often compared to a white rose. – B. Weaver

Strange BUT TRUE

by Samantha Weaver

 It was famed cultural anthropologist Margaret Mead who made the following sage observation: "One of the oldest human needs is having someone to wonder where you are when you don't come home at night."*

 It's been estimated that a million pigeons live in New York City.*

 When pop star Christina Aguilera is on tour, she insists on having a police escort. She hates to be stuck in traffic.*

 Next time you're heading to Illinois, you can stop off in Metropolis and visit the self-declared birthplace of Superman. In honor of their hometown superhero, the citizens erected a 15-foot bronze statue of him on Main Street.*

 It was Abraham Lincoln who signed into law the legislation that created the Secret Service. That very night, he was assassinated.*

 Those who study such things say that on the 13th of every month, triskaidekaphobia causes a loss of $83 million to American business due to absenteeism from work and other disruptions.*

 In the United States, more babies are born on Oct. 5 than on any other day of the year. If you do the math, you'll find that New Year's Eve is 9 months and 5 days before that.*
